SHORTLISTED FOR THE RUBERY AWARD

Everyone gets fired at least once. And if not, well, you're just not trying very hard. And we all think of brilliant and immature 'shoulda saids' and 'shoulda dones' for weeks after. (Okay, years.)

A collection of loosely related stories (featuring a strong female protagonist). An inadvertent how-to guide. A quirky bit of fun that slaps you upside the head.

"Ya made me snort root beer out my nose!" Moriah Jovan, The Proviso

"Wonderful read, funny, sarcastic. Loved it!" Charlie, Smashwords

"Darkly humorous." Jennifer Colt, The Hellraiser of Hollywood Hills

"Let me just say I was glad I was not drinking anything while reading this. My husband said he'd never heard me laugh so much from reading a book. At one point, I was literally in tears."

Rev and Dylan are intelligent, sensitive, idealistic, enthusiastic, and – utter failures. When they reconnect some twenty years after teacher's college, Rev is en route from Sudbury to the Montreal fireworks festival. (Something with great social and political import.) (Oh shut up. I tried. For two frickin' decades. So to hell with it.) Dylan goes along for the ride. (Typical.) Seriously funny.

"I am impressed by the range from stoned silliness to philosophical perspicuity, and I love your comic rhythm." L. S.

"... I'm on the Fish 'n Chips scene and laughing my ass off." Ellie Burmeister, personal note

"With a wicked sense of humor ... an inherently engaging, fully entertaining, and impressively thought-provoking read." Paul Vogel, Midwest Book Review

Rev and Dylan return from their ‘blasphemy tour’ to discover that Canada has adopted the Parent Licence Act: people who wish to become parents must apply for, and meet certain requirements before being granted, a licence. What if? After all, we require hairdressers and plumbers to be licensed. Dylan, freelance journalist, investigates, interviews, and observes; Rev, loose cannon, solves an ‘illegal fertilization’ mystery. They both occasionally get stoned and silly, and deal with a baby wolf who has adopted them.

"I'm very much intrigued by the issues raised in this narrative. I also enjoy the author's voice, which is unapologetically combative but also funny and engaging." A.S.

You ever have a neighbour whose behaviour is so mind-bogglingly inconsiderate and so suicide-inducingly annoying that you just want to ask him, in a polite Canadian way, to please stop? TurboJetslams isn't like that.

TurboJetslams tells the tale of one person's pathetic and hilarious attempts to single-handedly stop the destruction of a little piece of beautiful Canadian wilderness by the increasing numbers of idiots who couldn't care less. A perfect cottage-warming gift.

"Extraordinarily well written with wit, wisdom, and laugh-out-loud ironic recognition, TurboJetslams is a highly entertaining and a riveting read that will linger on in the mind and memory long after the little book itself has been finished and set back upon the shelf (or shoved into the hands of friends with an insistence that they drop everything else and read it!). Highly recommended for community library [and] personal reading lists ..." Midwest Book Review

A light-hearted fuck-it look at the uphill decline toward decrepitude

"[In this] memoir-style romp, [Richards] balances silliness with sharp insight; by spotlighting both the ridiculousness and the reality of growing older, Tripping Over Your Cane is as entertaining as it is thought-provoking." Nancy J. Royster

"The humor in Tripping is both shield and scalpel. ... Readers who value intelligent comedy, cultural irreverence, and reflective humor often struggle to find books like yours ..." Nora Owen, publicist

"Calling aging 'an uphill decline toward decrepitude' sets the tone perfectly." ... Ro Donnelly, Tea Time Books

Jass Richards (jassrichards.com) has, surprisingly enough (or not), a Master's degree in Philosophy and for a (very) brief time was a stand-up comic (now she's more of a sprawled-on-the-couch comic). Despite these attributes, she has received four Ontario Arts Council grants.

In addition to her Rev and Dylan series (The Road Trip Dialogues, The Blasphemy Tour, License to Do That, and The ReGender App), which has reportedly made at least one person snort root beer out her nose, she has written This Will Not Look Good on My Resume (shortlisted for the Rubery Book Award), followed by its sequel Dogs Just Wanna Have Fun ('nuff said). She has also written the perfect cottage-warming gift, TurboJetslams: Proof #29 of the Non-Existence of God (arguably the perfect cottage-warming gift) and its sequel, CottageEscape.com: Satan Takes Over, which, along with License to Do That, made it to Goodreads' list of Fiction Books That Opened Your Eyes To A Social Or Political Issue. A Philosopher, A Psychologist, and an Extraterrestrial Walk into a Chocolate Bar is a (way) off-the-beaten-track first-contact story, to which Jane Smith's Translation Dictionary is a 'companion' book. Lastly, she has written Too Stupid to Visit, a collection of funny bits from her non-existent stand-up career, and Tripping Over Your Cane, a light-hearted fuck-it look at the uphill decline toward decrepitude, in the form of an imagined stand-up comedy routine.

Excerpts have appeared in Frozen Women/Flowing Thoughts, The Cynic Online Magazine, in Contemporary Monologues for Young Women (vol.3) and 222 More Comedy Monologues, and on Erma Bombeck's humor website. Her one-woman play Substitute Teacher from Hell received its premiere performance by Ghost Monkey Productions in Winnipeg (2014).

Her worst-ever stand-up moment occurred in Atlanta at a for-blacks-only club (apparently). Her best-ever stand-up moment occurred in Toronto when she made the black guy fall off his stool because he was laughing so hard at her Donovan Bailey joke (Remember the guy who set a world record for running the 100M in 9.84 seconds? Big wup. My dog can do better than that. 'Course, she's black too).

Jess used to be a man. Then he found himself in a female body. It wasn't funny. (Why would anyone even think it was?)

"There's a scene in Tootsie (1982) that is surely one of the most unacclaimed scenes of all time: Dustin Hoffman's character, Michael, as 'Dorothy', makes a suggestion on the set, and the director dismisses it out of hand. As I remember it, Hoffman's face—conveying surprise, confusion, indignation—shows perfectly Michael's reaction to the absence of (and, just maybe, awareness of) male entitlement/privilege. The entire movie should've been about that. Just that. It wasn't. And so I wrote Jess."

Peg Tittle (pegittle.com) writes issue-driven fiction. Of her seven novels, two have been finalists for the Eric Hoffer Award (Gender Fraud: a fiction and It Wasn't Enough) and one (What Happened to Tom) is on Goodreads' list of Fiction Books That Opened Your Eyes To A Social Or Political Issue.

A screenplay based on Exile was a finalist in the WriteMovies competition (2007) and a quarterfinalist in the Fade-In competition (2007); another screenplay, based on What Happened to Tom, was a semifinalist in the Moondance competition (2008); and a short script titled "Bang Bang" was a finalist in the Gimme Credit competition (2007) and a quarterfinalist in the American Gem competition (2008).

She was a columnist for Philosophy Now and The Philosophy Magazine and continues to write provocative short pieces, two of which were in IEET's top ten of the year, and one of which was published as a McSweeney's list. Many of these have been anthologized in Sexist Shit that Pisses Me Off and Just Think about It! Other non-fiction books include several academic texts, currently in use at various universities.

She has degrees in Philosophy and Literature, and has received thirteen Ontario Arts Council grants.

Satellites Out of Orbit is at once a genre-busting collection of elegant and provocative prose and poetry, a solid work of research in women’s studies, a valuable resource for high school English teachers seeking new material for their Shakespeare and Mythology units, and a goldmine for actresses wanting fresh audition pieces. Contains Thus Saith Eve, Soliloquies: the lady doth indeed protest, Deare Sister, UnMythed, and Snow White Gets Her Say.

"... an excellent and much recommended pick for unique fiction collections." Michael Dunford, Midwest Book Review

"Our editorial board loved it. Our readers said it was the most feminist thing they’ve read in a long time." rejection letter from another publisher, back in 2001 (the book was written in 1988)

Eve should be blamed for choosing the apple? For choosing knowledge over obedience? Knowledge of good and evil? She thinks not. And, well, you can imagine what Noah's wife had to say about his grand idea... Thus Saith Eve is a collection of monologues, each written from the point of view of one of the women in The Bible as if she had a contemporary feminist consciousness.

"Short, but definitely entertaining ... and serious between the lines." Lee Harmon, A Dubious Disciple Book Review

Lady MacBeth kill herself? Please. And Portia – you don't think someone that intelligent would be pissed to be bait and trophy? A collection of soliloquies delivered by Juliet, Ophelia, Lady MacBeth, Kate, Desdemona, Regan, Miranda, and others – protesting the role given to them by Shakespeare. A feminist critique of Shakespeare; exquisite poetry; great classroom material; fresh new audition pieces; and a theatrical script ready for performance.

"...not only dynamic, imaginative verse writing, but extremely intelligent and intuitive insight... I know many actresses who would love to get their hands on this material!" Joanne Zipay, Judith Shakespeare Company, NYC

A collection of poems exposing the myths within the myths: what might Pandora, Circe, Penelope, Eurydice, Persephone, the Gorgons, and others have thought and done if they had not been the creations of a male supremacy? For (feminist) poetry fans; of interest to scholars of Greek and Roman mythology; and a valuable resource for English teachers who teach a Mythology unit.

“...A welcome relief from the usual male emphasis in this area. There is anger and truth here, not to mention courage.” Eric Folsom, Next Exit

“... With considerable skill and much care, chris wind has extrapolated truths from mythical scenarios and reordered them in modern terms. ... Wind handles these myths with and intellect.” Linda Manning, Quarry

Each piece in this feminist and socially conscious collection of poetry describes a painting or a sculpture: some, a re-vision of a classic; others, an original work not yet realized. Among the artists whose work is re-imagined are Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, Dali, Botticelli, Monet, and Rodin.

“It has been a long time since I’ve read a poetry book, but when I came across Paintings and Sculptures by Chris Wind, I was hooked. You know that feeling—when you read the first page and you know you’re going to like the book? That happened when I read the first poem. ... I loved “Mona” and I could picture the scene; it might have happened that way, we’ll never know. Also, “The Last Supper” was brilliantly clever. But my favourite one was “Lady of Justice”—such a fine poem, with a subtle message ... This is for sure a book I’ll reread every couple months!” Mesca Elin

1991, 2022 – Fiction - Short Stories - Poetry - Adult

This second edition of Excerpts: miscellaneous prose and poetry includes most of the pieces from the first edition (early works dating from the late 1970s and 1980s), slightly revised, along with several new pieces.

chris wind (chriswind.net) is the author of This is what happens, dreaming of kaleidoscopes, Satellites Out of Orbit (containing Thus Saith Eve, UnMythed, Deare Sister, Soliloquies: the lady doth indeed protest, and Snow White Gets Her Say), Paintings and Sculptures, Particivision and other Stories, and *Excerpt*s.

Her prose and poetry has appeared in numerous journals and magazines, including The Antigonish Review, Ariel, Atlantis, Bogg, Canadian Author and Bookman, Canadian Woman Studies, Contemporary Verse 2, The Copperfield Review, event, Existere, (f.)Lip, grain, Herizons, Herstoria, The Humanist, The New Quarterly, Other Voices, Poetry Toronto, Prism International, Rampike, Shard, The University of Toronto Review, The Wascana Review, Waves, Whetstone, White Wall Review, and Women's Education des femmes, as well as several anthologies, including Contemporary Monologues for Young Women, Clever Cats, Visions of Poesy, and Going for Coffee, and her stories have been read on CBC Radio.

A theatrical piece based on Soliloquies: the lady doth indeed protest (titled Not Such Stuff) was performed by the 27th Letter Theatre, London, UK (2022) and Venus Theatre, Maryland, US (2009); her work has also been performed by Alumnae Theatre, Toronto (1995 and 1993), Theatre Resource Center, Toronto (1993), Theatre Asylum, Toronto (1990), Ed Video, Guelph (1990), The Music Gallery, Toronto (1988), Neo-Faber Gallery, Toronto (1988 and 1987), Buddies in Bad Times, Toronto (1988), and A Company of Sirens, Toronto (1986).

She has been awarded sixteen Ontario Arts Council grants.

chris wind (chriswind.com) has also been a composer, with work in four genres, broadly defined: new age (Ruby Rose, Pacer 3, Pacer 5), classically-inclined piano, solos and duets (Preludes, stillwood, for Amelia, Synthetic Chamber), electronic soundscapes (Rocks and Trees, AudioVisions, Paintings), and social commentary collage pieces (The Art of Juxtaposition, ProVocative, chris wind's Christmas Album, dreaming of kaleidoscopes).

Her music has been included in several anthologies (Fobia, Spain; No Dub, Seattle; EBU's Xmas Compilation, West Germany; Best of Fool's Paradise, Belgium; Gajoob Samplers #1 and #8, Salt Lake City; Colere Unus, Alberta; Art Radio International, Montreal; Missing Link Music Sampler II, Seattle; Tapeworms #10, Dayton; The Ontario Electronic Tape Project, Ontario). It has also received concert performance in Toronto, Montreal, North Bay, and Guelph, most notably by saxophonist Paul Brodie ("solo for sax [1]") and by Maximos Farmakidis, of the Scarborough Philharmonic Orchestra ("lament"), the latter as part of their "Great Music Performance Series" (2020). Lastly, her work has received international airplay; The Art of Juxtaposition was ranked #11 on CKLN's Top 30 (1988).

chris was featured in Canadian Composer (1992), she has presented papers at the Canadian Electroacoustic Community conferences in Montreal and Toronto, and she has published articles in Musicworks and Contact!

She has an Associate Diploma in Piano (A.Mus.) from the Western Ontario Conservatory of Music and an Associate Diploma in Composition (A.R.C.T.) from the Royal Conservatory of Music.

With regard to the following sub-catalogue, a limited number of CDs are available; please inquire. Otherwise, chris has made all of her work available for free in digital form (mp3, 320kbps) and, where applicable, as sheet music at her website (chriswind.com).

Preludes, chris wind*

1995

A collection of twelve preludes, inspired by Bach.* However, unlike Bach's, each prelude starts in one key and ends in the next; thus, Prelude I starts in C and ends in C#, Prelude II starts in C# and ends in D, and so on. In addition, each prelude has some unique feature: Prelude I has a synthesized voice, inspired by Bach-Gounod; Prelude II has some distortion; Prelude III has a repeated note motif that sounds really cool with digital delay.

*unfinished album; contains only Preludes I, II, and III

stillwood, chris wind

1995

“Many musical gems: pieces of deceptive simplicity, yet sublime in their subtlety and elegance. And though much of the music is simple in format – works for solo viola, flute, cello, saxophone and haunting melodies played over sparse piano accompaniment – it is nevertheless music of great substance: refined works whose artistry and depth only become apparent after repeated listenings. stillwood is music for quiet evenings, for times of reflection, for times of peace. It is music of great sadness and great joy, music worthy of accompanying the drama which is our lives.” Amazon

ProVocative, chris wind

cw12PV 1993

social commentary collage pieces

“Chris does a great job making a point while being entertaining and interesting. ... Overall this is a fine work, and worth listening to.” Kevin Slick, gajooob

"Timely, thought-provoking, dark, and funny." Kevin Holm-Hudson, WEFT dreaming of kaleidoscopes, chris wind

cw11DK 1993

poetry set to sound

"dreaming of kaleidoscopes is wonderful. I featured it on my show tonight. Thank you. Thank you." P. J. McGregor, CKDU

"... recommended for anyone into coffee-house spoken-word poetry." Kim Ware-Matthews, gajoob

AudioVisions, chris wind*

1991

"'fernmist'" is at once ominous and yet beautiful; crystalline notes that draw you seductively into the unsettling constancy of the twisting central tonic while sheets of sound intermittently surge through like unknown laments." Michael Chocholak, Skomorokhi

"Eno would wet his pants." Ralph Kircher

*special release; contains only 3 pieces for Amelia, chris wind

cw10FA 1991

This album of mostly solo piano pieces is dedicated to the perhaps-not-so-fictional Amelia, a 19th century composer, contemporary of Chopin and Liszt.

Ruby Rose, chris wind

cw09RR 1991

solos for sax (with rain, loons, and wolves), viola, cello, and flute, and a set of piano pieces with nature backgrounds

"I really loved the cello solo, kudos to Sally Gross Geza's flute was thoroughly haunting. Peg's piano pieces were also on that spooky Harold Budd, shimmering frosty ambient side. The sax and loons and wolves and rain were really visual, well-executed pieces. Great composition and production, really exceptional work." Ben Kettlewell, WOMR

Paintings, chris wind and others

cw08PA 1991

fusions of solo acoustic improvisation on pre-composed electronic backgrounds

“My first listen, and I’m already enchanted! Simple but intimate electronic backgrounds woven by chris, against which play a variety of folks and instruments...I was most impressed with the lead-in tune, in which Stephen Crowe plays his flugelhorn against a slow-moving suspension in the back! Highly recommended.”

Improvijazzation Nation

chris wind's Christmas Album

cw07CA 1990

radical Xmas carols

“... direct and pointed wit and powerful, cutting sarcasm with unmistakable point ... loaded with social comment. The perfect stocking stuffer.” gajooob

“Twisted Xmas tunes, don’t tell Santa!” Don Campau, KFR

Synthetic Chamber er, chris wind cw06SC 1988

chamber music composed for acoustic instruments but performed on computer

Rocks and Trees, chris wind cw05RT 1988

electronic soundscapes for a series of black and white photographs of rocks and trees, suggestive of Philip Glass, John Mills-Cockell, Kitaro, and Scott O'Brien

“Chris is truly a master of visual music.” Letters of Fire, France

Pacer 5, chris wind
cw04P5 1987

music to run to; 43 minutes of music at 193 beats per minute

“There’s a compelling feeling to the melody which does relax the body and keep it going through the gentler parts.” Common Ground Magazine

“Compositionally neat and crisp, but with enough improvisational lines to make me float down the hardtrack.” Improvijazzation Nation

"Pacer 5, like Pacer 3, is music to move by. Instead of wind, there is running water, for runners who like a more serene, gentle, less aggressive approach to exercise." Dimensions 48

Pacer 3, chris wind

music to run to; 41 minutes of music at 170 beats per minute

“Pacer 3 is chariots of fire type stuff, with such energy behind it that it is impossible not to move when the tape starts. A steady and very brisk background beat remains constant, with lively mid-range electronic keyboard and wind gusts that vary. The energy boost this tape provides is amazing; whether for running, aerobics, rebounding, walking, or even housework, it will get and keep you moving with joy.” Dimensions 48

The Art of Juxtaposition, chris wind

social commentary audio collages

“When I aired The Art of Juxtaposition, I was transfixed by the power of it. When I had to go on mike afterward, I found I could hardly speak! To say the least, I found your work quite a refreshing change from all the fluff of commercial musicians who whine about lost love, etc. Your work is intuitive, sensitive, and significant!” Erika Schengili, CFRC

"Wind mixes biting commentary, poignant insight and dark humor ..." Bryan Baker, gajoob

Sampler, chris wind

cw01SA 1987

a ‘best of’ collection

“I’m sent a lot of boring electronic gibberish, but chris wind is a step above the rest combining a multitude of styles, genres, noises, and poetry. He’s remarkable!” John Cloud, Radion Föreningen

"A magnificent cassette." Sue Pulfer, CKCU
